On Wednesday evening of last week a business meeting was held at Cold Point Baptist church, when the following officers were elected: Church clerk, Wm. C. Lewis, who has held the same position for 44 years years; trustees, Lewis Kolle; Russell Kirk; treasurer of the church, John Kilmer; financial secretary, Lewis Kolle; benevolent treasurer, Mrs. Lewis Kolle; pianist, Miss Effie Marple. The financial report shows total receipts for the year of $1700, with expenditures of $1500, leaving a balance of $200, and in addition the church has contributed for benevolences the splendid sum of $1200. It was decided to call a congregational meeting of the church on Sunday, Sept. 18, for consideration of the pulpit vacancy.

Mr. and Mrs. George Corson and son George returned to their home in Cold Point on Sunday after having enjoyed a trip to France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, England and Scotland. They enjoyed the trip which was full of interest, especially so because of the familiarity of George Corson, Jr., with some of the places visited where he was stationed during the World war. They toured the battlefields in a Ford car, which they purchased and were fortunate in this as it enabled them to be independent of schedules and allowed them to devote to whatever interested them. Many towns are entirely obliterated, while others are almost annihilated. Vast stretches of the country are still wastes with mounds of earth and cavaties large enough to bury a Ford car, the earth ground and churled to pieces. Verdun was shot to pieces and very little of it remains. Other cities and towns and section of country are recovering, the coal mines are working and the railroads are operating. They visited Nice and Monte Carlo, and passed over the Rhine into Germany. Coblenz and Cologne were visited, and the American soldiers were seen there. They toured Belgium and Holland, but saw nothing of the former German emperor. A very pleasing part of the travels in Europe was their meeting with Dr. and Mrs. MacFarlan, who accompanied them over the battlefields and into Germany. They were on their wedding trip. Mrs. MacFarlan is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell, of Flourtown. Mr. Corson and party made an interesting tour of England and Scotland, as far north as Aberdeen, where Mr. Corson called on the old Scotchman from whom he purchased several of his Shetland ponies. Due to a fire on the Mauretania, the Cold Point tourists were unable to return on that liner, but sailed on The Empress of China, which weathered a fierce storm on the way over, and was further delayed 14 hours by the burning out of a bearing. However, after delay, the boat was able to land its passengers in New York city.

BALL CLUB SHOWS FORM.

Splendid Work of K. & M. Co. Ball Team.

Despite Many Discouragements Manager Graham Has Kept His Team Fighting in First Place—Has Developed Good Players.

No team in any league showed more fighting spirit under adverse conditions than the boys of the Keasbey & Mattison Company's team. A representative of the "Gazette" saw for himself an exhibition of this wonderful never-say-die spirit last Saturday on Lindenwold field when in a Twin-County league game the local boys took Wyndmoor into camp by the score 13 to 1. From the beginning of the season the club has been meeting with ill luck in the loss of some of its most valuable players, but despite the handicap the team has played a splendid game and is now fighting it out with Rose Valley for the high honers of the league. To date they have won 12 out of the 17 games played. Rose Valley which club leads the league, has placed three games to its credit that will likely be thrown out at the next meeting of the league, as the games were given to the latter club through error. As stated, from the start the Keasbey & Mattison Company boys met with the worst kind of luck when they lost their star outfielder and one of the best hitters in the league, when Douglas was signed to play with Fort Washington. But this was nothing to the blow that the club was dealt by Dame Fortune when Brosz, whose splendid ability as a catcher was always recognized, and who was always regarded as the main stay of the club in the receiving department, was put out of the game for the remainder of the season when he fractured his ankle sliding home in the game of July 4th. However, Manager Graham was again equal to the occasion and Hedrick was sent in to do the catching, and right well has he filled the bill. Not only has he handled the pitchers in the most approved manner, but his throwing and hitting have been a pleasing feature. The pitching staff was next to feel the iron hand of fate. Gambone, who was the star pitcher of the club, met with an accident and was out of the game and it would likely have been the death blow to the club's aspirations, but the fighting qualities of the boys and their manager once more became evident and Richie was signed for hill duty, but the latter worked only in two games, winning both, when he was signed up with the Ambler A. A. However, the club was fortunate in the return of Gambone to regular mound duty, but it was only for a short time, and again the ranks were invaded and Gambone was also signed with Ambler A. A. Despite this the management once more rose to the occasion and "Bill" Garrett was fired into the breach and was sent to the firing line and right well has this youngster performed since he has been assigned for hill duty. He has not been defeated once. He has wonderful control and in addition he has a fast-breaking curve, evidence of which was shown in Saturday's contest, when he defeated Wyndmoor with nine scattered hits.

The outfield has been well taken care of by Snyder, Urban and Fadely. The trio by their fast fielding have cut down more than one drive that was labeled for extra bases. The infield, composed of Constantine, Scholz and the Lewis twins "Jim" and "Bill", is a regular stone wall. These boys field in a manner that is a pleasing feature of the game. They are on their toes every minute of the play and their constant chatter keeps every member of the club going at top speed.

Here is how Saturday's game was won: After Lewis was retired in the opening session, Urban was given a free pass to first, and when Smith missed the fourth ball he went to second and a moment later he crossed the plate on Scholz's slashing drive to center. The real fireworks were touched off in the next inning by the Keasbey & Mattison boys. "Jim" Lewis started it by hitting safely for one base. Constantine followed with a two-bagger. Shivler dropped the throw on Snyder's infield tap and all hands were safe. Fadely then cracked a single through the infield and both Lewis and Constantine scored. "Bill" Lewis took four bad ones and walked, and on Urban's out he went to second, from whence he tallied on Scholz's double. Hedrick placed the latter on third on his out, and Garritt sent him home on his single, but this was all, as Garritt was retired at second on J. Lewis' drive to short. The score registered six runs, five hits and one error for the round. In the fourth session the K. & M. boys broke loose again and scored five more runs on singles by Constantine, Snyder, W. Lewis, Scholz and a slashing three-bagger by Hedrick.

The last run for the locals came over in the fifth and was the result of a base on balls and a stolen base, together with Garritt's long single Not until the seventh round did one of the visitors sink his spikes into the home plate. A. Wolf opened the period and was given credit for a hit when he beat J. Lewis' throw to first. He stole second, and two succesive outs enabled him to cross the rubber.

WAR HEROES PAID HONORS.

Services Over Remains of Privates Beideman and Fisher.

Military Funerals Last Sunday in Charge of the American Legion—Respectful Tribute by the Borough Generally—Interment at Rose Hill.

With full military honors the bodies of Nevin K. Fisher and Harry Beideman, who paid the supreme sacrifice during the World war, were laid at rest in Rose Hill cemetery, Ambler, last Sunday. Both were killed, in France, and their bodies were received at the homes of the loved ones last week. Fully 1000 people attended the services and paid a respectful tribute to these two heroes.

Services were held for Private Fisher in the Mount Pleasant Baptist church, while at the same time services were being held in Calvary Methodist Episcopal church over the remains of Harry Beideman. The members of the families and relatives first assembled at the homes of each and proceeded to the above churches. At the latter church the Rev. G. G. Dilworth spoke feelingly of the deeds of the boys who went to France in the full vigor of their manhood. A few appropriate words were uttered by Mrs. Thomas Gillian, of Fort Washington, who had been Private Beideman's Sabbath school teacher just prior to his leaving for the training camps.

The services were under the supervision of the Norton Downs Post, No. 125, American Legion, of Ambler, with commander Joseph W. Craft in full charge of the almost 50 veterans who attended in a body. The caskets were borne into the churches on the shoulders of six of the veterans. A most touching incident as the body of Private Fisher was nearing the church was the Ambler band, under the direction of Professor Benencassa, softly rendering a funeral march, and among those who assembled to pay tribute to this soldier who gave his all many recognized the fact that three of the boys who bore the casket upon their shoulder where near or by his side when the enemy's bullet cut short his life. The wife, Mrs. Edith Kulp Fisher, of the departed hero, together with the relatives of the family occupied the seats in the center of the church which was filled and many persons were obiged to stand. As the flag draped casket was placed upon the pedestal a hush fell upon the large assembly and as Rev. Ralph L. Mayberry, pastor of the church, began his prayer the moment was an impressive one. The scripture reading showed the many sacrifices made by the followers of our Lord. The theme of Mr. Mayberry's discourse was "Our Honored Dead," and during his remarks the speaker drew a comparison with those who said in part: "We have to go back but a few days to realize the difference between the two. At the New Jersey state prison there was put to death by the autorities two men who paid the supreme penalty for their selfishness. Their execution is still fresh in our minds and they are now numbered among the dishonored dead because of their greed and self. What a difference there is. Our honored dead who died for service and who gave their lives for a great cause, they will live forever in our memory, and the generations to follow will keep alive the thought we now cherish.' Then the speaker mentioned the great sacrifice that Christ had made and he pleaded to give His cause a fair chance, and if His teachings are followed there will be no need of the war that brings suffering, despair, sorrow and finally death itself. That destroys our fathers, brothers, husands, and sons and reduces the homes and the finest building to the level of the ground. Continuing, Mr. Mayberry told the beautiful story of the 40 gladiators and the sacrifices they made for the cause.

Following the service the funeral procession formed in front of the church and proceeded to Butler avenue to Lindenwold where the funeral procession having in charge the body of Private Beideman was met and both proceeded together to the cemetery at the cemetery both Mr. Mayberry and Mr. Dilworth officiated, and the usual salute was fired over the graves and finally taps were sounded by Buglar Wilox. The comrades who bore the body of Private Fisher were Frank Thomas, George Neeman, Harry Murphy, Alfred Hanson, Harry Richie and Joseph Doyle; those carrying the remains of Private Beideman were William Knoblauch, Harvey Eisenhart, George Spohn, Oliver Tolan, Stephen Gano, John Ewer.

Harry Z. Beideman was wounded in action, August 3rd, 1918, and died three days later in the hospital. He was a member of the Machine Gun Co., No. 58, 79th Division. Private Beideman is a son of Jesse and Emaline Beideman, who reside on Park avenue, Ambler, Pa.

Private Fisher was a member of 314 Machine Gun Co., 79th Div. and was killed outright by a sniper's bullet, who before he was finally located and killed had snuffed out the lives of five other Americans. The bullet that killed Private Fisher entered directly over the left eye and passed through his head. Both boys were in the battles of the Argonne.

There were many beautiful flower designs and both funerals were in charge of the local undertaker, Jesse F. Davis.

Historic Sandy Run Has Concrete and Rustic Covers.

Red Men's Stream Picturesquely Bridged Where Penn Bargained With Indians—Quaint Expense Account.

Near the old Sandy Run station, now called Camp Hill, in this part of Montgomery county, two of the handsomest concrete bridges in this section of Pennsylvania have recently been completed, replacing old wooden bridges, to carry the North Pennsylvania railroad over the low, picturesque stretch of farmland along the ancient mill stream, Sandy Run. Much of legend, romance and tradition has clustered in this section throughout the years since the ancient village of Umbilicamense was located here; and the spot is today one of the most alluring for history students of any section of the Whitemarsh township.

Not only have the new bridges brought many visitors to the place during the process of construction, and increased the beauty of the ancient landmarks, but the improvement has served as an incentive for the farmers of the vicinity to beautify their acres, by clearing the underbrush and briars from the groups of fine old weeping willows, following the cline of the rail-along Sandy Run, and by erecting picturesque rustic bridges over the stream in various sections where it passes through the fields.

Two of the handsomest concrete railroad bridges are situated on a farm belonging to the Camp Hill estate. The upper bridge crosses a roadway leading to the old farmhouse, while the lower structure passes high above a shallow portion of Sandy Run.

FARMAR FAMILY TRADITIONS.

All this section of land along the famous old mill stream—a branch of the Wissahickon where it passes through Montgomery county,—was originally owned by the Farmar family. Here they started a prosperous community, as they were wealthy, and settled here with many servants—thus differing from the majority of early settlers. It is claimed that many of splendid old willows still thriving here were planted by the Farmars; and the modern beauties of the place are in keeping with the old-time charms that have always surrounded this farming section.

The Farmar family were the earliest and most extensive purchasers of land in Whitemarsh, and their holdings extended for many miles along the present line of the North Pennsylvania Railroad. Major Jasper Farmar was an officer in the British army, and a wealth resident of Cork, Ireland. Hearing of the advantages offered by William Penn in colonizing his province, induced him to purchase fro mPenn, by patent dated January 31, 1683, two tracts containing together 5000 acres; and it was this purchase that located the ancient Indian village of Umbilicamense; and the ancient record of the purchase states it in the following interesting document:

L. S.—William Penn, proprietary and Governor of Pennsylvania and the Territories thereunto belonging. At the request of Jasper Farmar, Junior, in behalf of his father, Major Jasper Farmar, his brother, Richard, and himself, that I would grant him to take up five thousand acres of land being of the lands by the Indians called Umbilicamense, fronting at one end upon the River Schuylkill. There are to will and require forthwith to survey or cause to be surveyed unto him, the said five thousand acres in the aforementioned place, where not already takn up according to the method of townships appointed by me, and make return thereof unto my Secretary's office. Given at Philadelphia, the 31st, of the 1st month, 1683.

For Thomas Holmes, Surveyor-General. WM. PENN.

THEN THE OLD MAN DIED.

There was gloom in the Farmar family when they came into possession of their extensive lands in the new world as Major Jasper Farmar died after all arrangements had been made for the voyage; but his courageous widow and her eight children carried out his plans by making the voyage, bringing with them to the new country several relatives and a large retinue of servants. The children were Edward, Sarah, John, Robert, Catherine, Charles, Jasper and Richard. The relatives were Thomas Farmar, Catharine Farmar (widow), Elizabeth Farmar and Edward Batsford, the servants were Joanna Daly, PhilipMayow and Helen his wife, John Mayow, John Whitlow, Thomas Young and his wife, William Winter, George Fisher, Arthur Smith, Thomas Alferry, Henry Wells, Robert Wilkinson, Elizabeth Mayow, Martha Mayow, Sarah Burke, Sheele Oceven, Andrew Walbridge all from Ireland, surely sufficient to settle the whole of 5000 acres controlled by the one family and their numerous caretakers and workmen,.

These voyagers did not find a barren wilderness awaiting them, as did many of the early settlers; but everything had been made ready for their reception, farm lands had been cleared and settlements planned along the steam now known as Sandy Run (which was early noted for its milling facilities;) for it appears from the colonial records that John Scull, as overseer for the Farmar family, had settled on the tract with a number of servants several months before their arrival, probably with a view to the immediate erection of buildings and other improvements and preparations in advance of their coming. It is claimed that at this time there existed an Indian settlement in the vicinity, and from this circumstance Edward Farmar acquired his knowledge of the Indian Language, which enabled him in May, 1701, and again in 1702, to perform for the Government the duties of interpreter.

A council with the Indians was held at Edward Farmar's house, May 19, 1712, at which was present the Governor, Charles Gookin, and several of his friends, besides a number of Indians. The most prominent chiefs at this meeting were Sasoonan, Ealochelean and Scholitchy, Mr. Farmer acting as interpreter. It was through his efforts that the ancient village of much controversy was finally located—along the line of the recent improvements. The executors of Edward Farmar in a deed of a portion of his estate, dated April 14, 1746, to George Greenfield, mention that it was a "part of the land by the Indians called Umbilicamense."

THE COST OF HIS CANTER.

Through this information an additional discovery has been made in regard to an excursion on horseback by William Penn to view the country. In a bill of charges made out by Thomas Fairman, commencing in 1682, he states among other items of his being debtor "To a journey with the proprietor and his friends to Umbolekemensin, with 3 of my horses, 12 shillings." This trip was probably made in August, 1683, as on August 12 of the following year he embarked for England.

It was under these singular circumstances that the ancient Indian village was finally located, and the Indian relics that have since been found on all the farm land round about, during later years, would indicate that it was an extensive settlement of red men.

Since the new concrete railroad bidges have spanned portions of the ancient village picturesque rustic bridges have followed the line of the historic Sandy Run. These have not been of the usual type, intended merely for convenience in spanning the stream, but are charming resting places beneath the handsome old willow trees. They are made with comfortable seats in the centre of the bridge, where one may rest and meditate in the shade. Some of them have gates to increase the decorative value and the sense of seclusion; and all are constructed with the idea of beautifying the extensive farms of this section.

School Days

As seasons run their normal course
And school routine must come perforce,

To guide the youth upbuild, perfect.

Do Algebra and Latin claim
The plastic mind we strive to frame?
Or does it grasp the useful knowledge
In business, home, as well as college?

To specialize, matriculate,
Advantage give to those who rate,
But mass instruction surely needs
The fundamental, plain fact, seeds.

Bucks County Herds Are Being Improved.

Dairymen in Bucks county will be interested to know of the number of accredited herds of cattle in the county together with the herds that have passed one clean test, those tested one time, and the applications on file.

Bucks county ranks favorably with Montgomery county in this work. Names of Bucks county farmers having accredited herds and other information were furnished County Agent N. E. Garber, by Dr. T. E. Munce, of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, Harrisburg.

Montgomery Tax is Lower Than Neighbors.

Montgomery county women who feel antagonistic to the occupational tax levied against them since the advent of sufferage, may cast an eye on the taxes against citizens of other counties and then decide tha we are lucky.

This county's basis of assessment against occupation is much lower than any of the neighborhood counties.

The bases of assessment are not uniform. The county commissioners in each case determine the approximate valuations which should be given men and women engaged in various occupations, and township and borough adopt them.

In Montgomery county laborers, housewives, domestic servants and and women who stay at home are assessed at $100 throughout the country. Women engaged as clerks, stenographers, or who pursue trades are assessed at about $125. Women who are in professional work, in medicine, the law, etc., are assessed at $150. Manufacturers are assessed at $200 and bankers at from $175 to $200. Usually if a married woman works she is classed as a housewife anyway and assessed at $100.

At a special meeting of the board held in the evening its reorganization was affected and the following officers elected: President, L. M. Landis; vice president, H. G. Jacoby, secretary, A. C. Groff; treasurer, W. S. Schlichter; solicitor, H. T. Williams.

Would Be Poor Director.

Petitions are being circulated to place on the primary ballot the name of Christian D. Hunsicker, a well known farmer of Upper Providence, as a candidate for the Republican nomination as director of the poor.

Likely a New Stony Creek Bridge.

It is more than likely that the old wooden bridge crossing Stony Creek on Sterigere street, in Elmwood park, Norristown, will soon be replaced by a modern structure which will be safe for public traffic for County Surveyor Crissman and assistants have made a survey of the approaches to the span which for the past 28 months has been closed to the public.

Months ago the Sterigere street bridge proposal was brought to the attention of the court when a jury of view decided that the street is an open highway for public traffic, and that a bridge is necessary at that point. The court approved the acion of the jury, and since then the matter has been up to the County Commissioners.

It was at the instance of the commissioners that the surveyor was instructed to prepare a survey and make plans for the new structure. After these are presented to the commissioners, it is more than probable that estimates will be received and a contract awarded.

The bridge will continue through Elmwood Park to the Boulevard and will likely be an imposing structure.

New Local Physicians.

Isadore Hurwitz, of 331 Cherry street, Norristown, has passed the state medical examinations and will be duly licensed, by the state bureau of medical education and licensure, to practice. He is a son of Samuel Hurwitz, a West Main street shoe dealer.

Amongst the others in this county who have qualified as physicians at the same examinations are: Norman W. Land, Bryn Mawr; William H. Guillium, Wyncote; Philip H. B. McElhinney, Bryn Mawr; Harold S. Rambo, Pottstown.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

MAKING VICTORY MEDALS.

30,000 Now in Process of Being Manufactured.

Only Half of Them Will Go to Pennsylvania Guardsmen—Many Soldiers From Other States Fought With Pennsylvania Division.

Pennsylvania, whose sons crowned her name with imperishable glory in the World War, is at length to recognize, in a measure, her debt of gratitude to them.

Her own decoration, a Victory medal, is to be bestowed upon them.

Other States have taken the same step months ago.

The United States, in the bestowal of medals, ribbons and crosses, began the work shortly after the war closed.

It is to be the old National Guards' own decoration.

Benjamin W. Demming tells me that the Victory medals are now in process of production.

The sketch of the medal has been submitted, the dies made and the work started.

Mr. Demming, who is a son of Colonel H. C. Demming, the geologist, is chief clerk in the adjutant general's office.

In a way he has the detail of the work in his hands.

There will be about 30,000 of them made and distributed.

Adjutant General Frank D. Beary passed upon the designs and approved them.

They will be known as the Pennsylvania Victory medals. They will be of bronze.

The medal itself will be one and three-eighths inches wide.

It will hang dependent from a ribbon by a Victoria Cross English swivel.

The ribbon will be attached to a bronze bar three-eighths of an inch wide and one and three-eighths inches long.

Heavy moire silk ribbon will be used, an inch and a half wide. It will be of the same texture as the United States Victory medal ribbon.

In the center of the ribbon lengthwise will run the colors of the Allies. The outside, or edge, will have a boarder of Pennsylvania blue.

Here is the official description of the bronze medal:

The obverse will carry the head and bust of William Penn in Armor.

Surrounding it will be the words, "Pennsylvania National Guard."

At the base of the body will be a keystone with the neters P. N. G.

On the reverse is an allegorical eagle flying from the shore line of America to the aid of the Allies in France. The figure 28 appears in a Keystone.

There are ships on the sea, and at the base a small model of the flag on a Keystone.

Of the 30,000 to be made, odd as it may seem, only about half dozen of them will go to Pennsylvania men.

In nearly every State in the Union there are veterans who will wear this decoration.

They are veterans of "over there" and they fought under the Pennsylvania division and under its flag.

This is due to the replacements.

After the first shocks of battle the Pennsylvania National Guard began thinning out, and its losses were replaced by men from the selective draft. They came from everywhere.

Practically one-half of the Pennsylvania Guard did not come back with the troops after the armistice.

This fact shows the terrible casualties in the division.

Some companies were mustered out with only a fraction of the original men.

The Somerset Company, when it returned, did not have an officer or private in it who left home originally for France.

Mr. Demming refers to this as one of the most remarkable episodes of the World War.

No other division in the United States had any such record of casualties.

In all the more or less disjointed lucubrations over the financial condition of the State, there is one salient fact that has been overlooked.

It has to do with the future.

Within a few years there will be demands that must be met for the maintenance of soldiers' orphan schools on a scale never yet attained.

Those who recall the years following the close of the Civil War do not forget the remarkable growth of these institutions, then first organized in the history of the State.

Later on as the children of the veterans of 61-65 grew up, the schools dwindled in their attendance.

Then came the Spanish American War, and once more they experienced asort of rejuvenation.

Now come the World War orphans.

Soldiers' homes also will demand greater appropriations.

The Legislature of the present year passed two important bills in this connection.

Veterans of '61, who formerly figured largely on these boards of control, are passing rapidly.

Their sons of the Spanish War are taking their places.

Amendments were passed to the law of 1885, relating to homes for indigent and disabled soldiers, sailors and marines, for the appointment of three veterans each of the Spanish-American War and the war with Germany on the Soldiers' Home Board.

In like manner two veterans of the World War and members of the American Legion go on the Soldiers' Orphan School Board.

Better homes, better schools, greater car, more experienced teachers, better surroundings and opportunitis in every respect will be thus insured.

I shall never forget the furor that was raised during the legislative session of 1885, when the late Thomas V. Cooper, of Delaware County ,proposed an amendment to the Soldiers' Orphan School bill that would have permitted the Poor Directors of each county to remove the children from the almshouse and put them in the soldiers' orphan schools.

The Grand Army of the Republic made just one protest. But it was enough. Cooper dropped his bill like a hot horseshoe.

It was offered in the mistaken interest of economy for the counties.

It would have saved them some money, but it would have pauperized the soldiers' orphan schools.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ambler school board was held Friday evening in the Mattison avenue school building. Members present were: Messrs. Mayberry, Nichols and Maas and Dr. Robinson. In the absence of President Styer, Vice president Mayberry was in the chair. The usual routine business was transacted and in addition the tax collector's commission was fixed and also the school calendar for the year 1921 and 1922. In addition to this business a resolution was passed by the board commending Edward C. Scott, tax collector for his very efficient work. On motion it was unanimously agreed to record the resolution in the minutes of the meeting and to send a copy to Mr. Scott and the Ambler Gazette for publication. The school calendar for the present session, which began on Tuesday, will be as follows: School will be in session 10 months, instead of nine and one half months, as heretofore. The holidays will include two days for Thanksgiving and two full weeks at Christmas. Memorial day will count as a day of session, as the students will assemble at the schools to hold special exercises in conjunction with the American Legion. This will be the case on Washington's birthday. The session for 1921 and 1922 will probably end about June 23. It was agreed to fix the tax collector's commission the same as last year. Great preparation is being made by the board to make the present year the most successful in the history of the Ambler schools. The faculty has been made up of a most efficient corps of teachers. It is true that there are a number of new teachers among the instructors this year, but each one comes to Ambler with a splendid record, and there is no question in the minds of the members of the board but that the high standard of efficiency will not only be maintained but will be surpassed in the present session. Every department has been carefully considered, and the board will leave nothing undone to assist Supervising Principal, J. M. Fisher and his teachers to obtain the results desired. One of the new departments is the chemical laboratory, which has been fitted up during the vacation period, wherein the students will have a splendid opportunity to study chemistry.

Mrs. Freas for Whitemarsh School Board.

Myrtle Propes Freas, of Cold Point, is a candidate for nomination at the primary election, September 20, for school director of Whitemarsh township on the Republican ticket. Mrs. Freas is the widow of Mr. A. Freas, a highly-esteemed and prosperous farmer of Whitemarsh, who since her husband's death several years ago, has carried on his business successfully. Mrs. Freas was born at Lincolnton, North Carolina, and moved to Norristown at the age of four. Her early education was received at Miss Julia Hayman's school and, at 13, she entered the public schools of Norristown, where she was graduated from the high school in the class of 1879.

After successfully passing the teachers' examinations, Mrs. Freas—then Miss Propes—received certificates from Borough Superintendent Jos. K. Gotwals and County, Superintendent Hoffecker and taught for one year in Norristown, after which she was elected principal of Cold Point public school, which position she held for seven years.

Her knowledge of public school affairs; her interesting educational matters, her pleasing, tactful manner of handling business interests, and a sincere desire to asist in placing the schools of Whitemrash on a higher plane make Mrs. Freas a most desirable candidate for the office of school director.

Woman for Jury Commissioner.

Katharine K. Podall, of Norristown, has the unique distinction of being the first woman in Montgomery county to be campaigning for a county political office; and the snap and pep which are attending her campaign are making the fellows sit up and take notice.

She is seeking the Democratic nomination for jury commissioner, a post for which she is eminently qualified and for which many of the men of affairs in the county have endorsed her. Her petitions bear many signers who are business and professional men, all of whom have the utmost confidence in her.

Mrs. Podall will be remembered by many by reason of her faithful service to Jeremiah Larzelere, late district attorney as one of the court stenographers she is known to many. She has been qualified for the office through her duties as the secretary to the present board of jury commissioners.

Mrs. Podall's campaign is being watched with no little interest on the part of the people of the county, more so in view of the fact that in securing the nomination she will assured of formal election in November.

Sousa Hurt in Fall.

Thrown fro mhis horse while cantering along Edge Hill road, Abington township, Tuesday morning, John Philip Sousa, the celebrated "March King," was so seriously injured that he is unable to lead his orchestra, which is playing this week at Willow Grove.

At the time of the accident, Sousa was on his way to the Huntingdon Valley hunt, to keep an appointment with Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company. He received a deep gash over his right eye and is suffering from shock, according to Dr. Summer Cross, of Jenkintown, who attended him. He will remain at the Huntingdon Valley Country club until he is fully recovered.

The League Baseball Races.

Due to its 9 to 6 victory over Souderton, Lansdale went into a first place tie with Doylestown in the Montgomery County League, and as a result, even with the regular season concluded, the two teams will meet in a series for the crown. Each team has won 16 games and dropped 4. A special meeting of the league will be held this Wednesday and plans will likely be made for a three-game series.

Glenside captured the Suburban League championship as the result of its double victory Monday. In winning the crown. Jack Hauser's nine won twenty games in a row and set up a record for the circuit.

On Labor day Glenside handed Wyndmoor a 6 to 0 defeat and then ended the performance with a 12 to 2 victory over Fort Washington.

Hatboro, by winning from Fort Washington, went into a tie for second place honors with Southampton.

In the Twin—County league Ambler won out with a victory over the K. & M. team Monday.

Witnesses Must Have Cards Punched Below.

Judge William C. Ryan, of the Bucks county courts, has established a new rule concerning criminal court witnesses for the Commonwealth in criminal cases in Bucks county will be required to report to the office of the Clerk of Quarter Sessions and register.

A card system of checking up on the number of days served, will be used. The constable will serve the subpoena on the witness telling him to report to the Clerk of Quarter Sessions every morning and have his card "punched". This is absolutely imperative in order to secure witness fees and mileage at the end of the witness's service.

The new system will avoid errors that might occur in checking up the number of days served by a witness. Only days "punched" on the card will be paid.

—The Bucks County Commissioners made an additional appropriation of $10,000 to the almshouse, making $60,000 for maintenance this year.

TOWN TOPICS.

Local conditions point to a large corn crop on the farms hereabouts, and it now looks as though the farmers should be able to husk and house the yield in good condition, because there are evidences of no scarcity of help.

A reliable, dependable, easy running, easy riding, economical in gasoline, oil and assuring long life to tires—such is the car you are looking for. I beg to call your attention to the Buick. Examine it critically, ask a Buick owner and let me demonstrate its many commendable features. —Rudolph Speelhoffer, agent. adv

Clerk Wm. M. Johnson, who has been a most efficient official for many years, will shortly have for use of council three copies of all the ordinances bound together and constituting in all three copies of the borough laws. One copy is designed for use of the borough secretary, one for the burgess and the other for the justice of the peace. The work has been most carefully compiled by hand by Mrs. Johnson and constitutes the labor of more than a year.

Have you ever seen the main streets of Ambler on Saturday evenings? If not, it will be a revelation for you to walk "down town" between 6.30 and 8.30 o'clock during the fine open weather. The scene resembles a holiday at a country fair. Traffic is congested, and two lines of parked automobiles mark the street sides, while people are hurrying hither and thither or standing in groups talking to friends or discussing business affairs. Store clerks are busy, and the stores are brilliantly illuminated. Withal the crowd is a peaceful, quiet one—on pleasure or business bent—and except for the control of traffic there is little need for police supervision. The borough authorities maintain a special officer in addition to Chief Ford for these emergency situations, and with the local traffic incident to the regular Saturday night patronage to the borough and the motor traffic that now runs through the borough as a result of the closing of the Springhouse and Chestnut Hill turnpike, there is need for the officers, as well as of extra precautions on the part of all motorists who operate or who park their cars within the borough.

The problem of road corners on our busy thoroughfares—and they are all busy nowadays—should be given consideration either by legislation on the part of the state or by regulation and control by property owners. In some sections corners become especially dangerous because the view from either road is screened by bushes, brush, banks, growing corn or some other reason that can more or less easily be controlled by the property owners. Heretofore, the farmer was disposed to resent any legislation or regulations which seemed designed to limit his freedom of action especially on his own property, and he was especially bitter towards the motor car of the city aristocrat, which rushed over the country roads, destroyed his poultry and frightened his horses, but now with each farmer owning a motor truck or two and a pleasure car besides the condition becomes different. He has a changed vision of affairs, and with the 500,000 and more motor cars in this state along, traffic problems which were incident to cities and large boroughs, are now questions for regulation on each main highway, and the farmer is as much interested in the security of his roads and the safety of his family in their own car as is the city tourist on vacation bent. The time is coming when traffic policemen will be necessary in country sections where main roads cross, especially if there is not some regulation with regards buildings and other obstructions at these busy corners where view ahead is impossible under present conditions.

The Carrell Family.

Celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the Carrell Family Association on Aug. 13, at Willow Grove park, the clan laid plans for a memorial reunion next year on the farm owned by Miss Mary Opdyke, on the Bristol road below Ivyland, which James Carrell, an early progenitor of the family, bought in 1707. It will be the 215th anniversary of the purchase, and a special program is projected.

Addresses were made by Ezra P. Carrell, the family genealogist, whose subject was "Twenty Years," and who traced the growth of the association and the inflence of the family; Murrey L. Gamble, of Genesee, N. Y., who motored down for the event; Webster O. Melcher, of Cynwyd, noted handwriting expert, whose subject was "Can a man succeed by eight hours of labor"; Dr. Edward Krusen, of Norristown, a physician with a state-wide reputation; Mrs. Daniel Pastorius, Camden, N. J.; Secreary Benjamin F. Banes, and Mrs. Jesse Wikoff, Trenton, N. J.

Dr. J. B. Carrell, Hatboro, spoke briefly in his usual jolly fashion, contributing greatly to the spirit of good fellowship which always prevails at the Carrell's reunions.

An election of officers resulted as follows:

President, John S. Engart, Philadelphia; vice president, Alexander B. Geary, Wallingford; recording secretary Benjamin F. Banes, Philadelphia; treasurer, Joseph Carrell, Jr., Hatboro; corresponding secretary, Ezra P. Carrell, Hatboro.

Real Estate Changes.

Warren M. Cornell, real estate broker Hatboro, has sold for H. Morris Adams his attractive 100-acre farm on the County Line road, west of York road, in Warminster township, to Frank Oehrle, Jr., Mr. Oehrle will get possession October 1. Mr. Oehrle owns the adjoining farm and it will give him a 212-acre farm in Warminster township.

Mr. Cornell has also sold to H. Morris Adams a ten-acre tract in Horsham township, belonging to Mrs. Ellie N. Jarrett. Mr. Adams will move to this property about October 1, making it his home.

For Edward S. Glavis Mr. Cornell has sold a lot and dwelling in Hatboro to William G. Siener, of Southampton. Mr. Selner gets possession September 1.

Blood Transfusion.

Frank Parcell, who formerly conducted the plumbing establishment on Maple avenue, Sellersville, was a caller there on Monday. He is at present associated in the plumbing business with his brother at Quakertown. Since the Parcells left the community Mrs. Parcell has been seriously ill. She was a patient in a Philadelphia hospital. Her condition became such that a blood transfusion was necessary to save her life. Mr. Parcell submitted to the dual operation, giving a large quantity of his blood for transfusion to his wife's veins. He was very much weakened by the operation but Mrs. Parcell showed immediate improvement and is now almost entirely recovered from her illness.

A Grateful Letter.

It is in trying conditions like that related below by Mrs. Geo. L. North of Naples, N. P., that proves the worth of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. "Two years ago last summer" she says "our little boy had disentery. At that time we were living in the country eight miles from a doctor. Our son was taken ill suddenly and was about the sickest child I ever saw. He was in terrible pain all the time and passed from one convulsion into another. I sent my husband for the doctor and after he was gone thought of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the cupboard. I gave him some of it and he began to improve at once. By the time the doctor arrived he was out of danger." sep

Urged State Road Repairs.

Adolph Muller, Thomas Livezey and Deputy Auditor General Charles Johnson, of Penn Square, have called upon State Highway Commissioner Sadler and informed him of the immediate need for completion of plans for route 178, the road leading from Norristown to Doylestown. This route is an important link in the administration's road programme. At about its middle it is crossed by the Bethlehem pike and at Doylestown it connects with the Philadelphia and Easton route, now being constructed.

Hundred of signers have put their names to petitions which have been forwarded to Harrisburg, and the Highway Commissioner has promised to give this route careful consideration. It is thought that there will be something done in the matter this fall, when the importance of the roadway to the traveling public is considered, as it provides a mean of traffic from important points and isn ow in very poor condition.

Chronic Catarrh.

Our manner of living makes us very susceptible to colds and a succession of colds causes chronic catarrh a loathsome disease with which it is estimated that ninety-five per cent of our adult population are afflicted. County Jail Filed Up.

The Montgomery county jail is filled up, it was learned recently from Warden Fellman. There are 160 prisoners in the various cells, the greatest number for years. The normal number is 125. Up to this number the number of prisoners seldom exceeds 135. The number may reach the 200 by the time Criminal Court convenes in September.

Lest You Forget.

Let us remind you that Chamberlain's Tablets not only cause a gentle movement of the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. sep

Biggest County Fair Planned for Byberry.

Curry comb the old gray mare, shine up the harness and paint the old buggy, for fair time is almost here.

The Philadelphia County Fair Association has set September 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10—six days and five nights—for this year's Byberry fair.

The association has announced that it had completed and distribution of several thousand premuium lists, which contain seventy-five pages and are far more pretentious than any ever issued before. In fact, Walter R. Buckman, secretary of the association, predicted that he 1921 fair would surpass all ohers, "from the farm exhibits to the great midway and the last race."

One of the innovations at the fair this year will be he night exhibits. Last year the fair was thrown open at night, and Mr. Buckman said it had proved so successful that the directors deemed it advisable to make the evening show a permanent fixture. This year, in addition to band concerts, vaudeville acts and special features will be put on the bill both day and night.

More than $7000 in purses in the racing divisions has been authorized, and racing will comprise trotting, pacing and running events and A. A. A. auomobile races.

The following are the directors who will superintend the various departments:

Agricultural and horticultural, John M. Stevens; art and ladies' fancy work, A. H. Entwistle; automobile racing, Horace P. Murphy; band, Prof. Charles M. Fry; cattle show, George V. Dean; horse racing, A. E. Leatherman; hidway and concessions, Walter R. Buckman; preserves and jellies, A. H. Entwistle; poultry show, Norris G. Temple; rabbits anr cavies, George M. Scott; swine and sheep show, George V. Dean.

Keep Well and Be Happy.

If you would be happy you must keep your bowels regular. One or two of Chamberlain's Tablets taken immediately after supper will cause a gentle movement of the bowels on the following morning. Try it. sep.

Bucks County's Goods Roads.

Public spirited and fore-sighted policy on the part of the Bucks county commissioners, and an interested and generous attitude on the part of the state highway department, are getting for that county a system of main arteries of travel which will equal any in the State. Gradually, too, lateral roads—township and abandoned turnpike roads— are being improved, and the outlook generally is very gratifying and promising.

It will cost Bucks county a considerable sum, especially for the Philadelphia-Poconos highway on which bills for land damages and bridge work will have to be paid by the county, but the policy of the commissioners has been to co-operate with the State, feeling that it is a wise step to pay this comparatively small share when the state is willing to spend millions here.
